

LATITUDE

Business Software for Land Surveyors, Engineers & Consultants www.LatiBiz.com

Latitude is a comprehensive business management package designed for land surveyors, engineers, urban designers and other organisations that need to track professional work on projects and manage projects and project information. Latitude facilitates project costing, quoting, project workflow, staff time tracking, document control, client interaction, project team, prospect and supplier tracking, and billing.

Latitude notifies staff when work is to be done, allows project managers to see that they are doing it and then, when they are finished, automatically prompts the next person in a workflow at the right time to perform their role in completing a task.

Latitude tracks all time spent by your staff on all of their work, whether in the office or in the field. It takes the guesswork out of quoting and billing, allowing you to focus on the most profitable projects, clients and employees.

Latitude has a powerful document and communication register that can be used to log and then track everything from the original verbal client request, through draft file and document version control, to the final delivery of plans and reports to the client. This can form the core of a QA system.

Latitude Productivity Report

What some of our clients say about Latitude...

All our staff use Latitude Software on a daily basis to link jobs to clients, job managers etc., as well as a comprehensive means for Job Managers to account for time spent on jobs for billing purposes. Any staff member can readily see the progress status of jobs.

Edrick Delfos - Hille Thompson & Delfos

Since its implementation in 2007, Latitude has proven to be an invaluable project management tool for our business. The intuitive menu structure made it easy for our users to navigate to key functions; while the powerful reporting options added real value to our business from a very early

Andrew Chittenden - Tomkinson & Associates

Latitude support is always quick and ready to fulfil any request for changes, something we don't get from other software vendors.

Andrew Edwards - McKinlay Morgan & Associates

Latitude has increased our bottom line, and for time billing I have not seen anything better.

John Henley - Civil Surveys & Design

Latitude minimises administrative overhead in a small firm.

Terry Cromer - Terry Cromer Surveying

It is very useful for job costing and profitability analysis.

Kevin Dodd - Earl James & Associates

At a key stroke we can find and view any document and determine the status of any job.

Grant Phillips - Charles O'Neill Pty
